

All new Forum

Posted by Kim - 16 Feb 2011 21:32

Well this updated version of the Forum seems a lot friendlier than the old version but I am still having problems on how it all works:S

Ann knows how it works and she was impressed (so it must be good)😊

Helen has sent a new link today which I am going to transfer into the sidebar menu so if anyone has got any more which you think will help, please let me know

Does anyone want a list of social networking sites as well that also deal with arachnoiditis?

The Links we can provide does not mean that we as a group endorse their contents, even with DocSarah's approval (necessary every time). This site is not in competition with any other site. We are just different. No adverts, no sponsorship just information from DocSarah. Support, if it's needed but also quietly sitting in the background, always there.

Now I have been told I need to update the contents of our About Us:unsure:

Kim

Ann what's an attachment?😊

=====