

Thank you again Helen

Thank you very much again Helen,

I have deleted all of the advertisements now and I have banned them for life from this site.

I am very angry that people think that they can just advertise whatever they like on a site relating to pain, they are stupid stupid people.

Kim worked so hard putting this site together because she understood that people couldn't sit and read or post for a long time due to pain.

She spent hours and hours extracting, and filing into relevant categories, from Doc Sarah's brilliant extensive 262 articles, so people could read just what they require, instead of reading the entire article

So advertisements for coats, shoes, bags, and various items are just not needed, so a big thanks to Helen for being my eyes.

Best wishes to everyone xxx
