

MS Stem Cell Treatment recently in news & on TV

Posted by helen - 20 Mar 2016 10:22

I contacted a team carrying out small scale stem cell treatments on patients with "aggressive Multiple Sclerosis" to find out if similar treatments could help Arachnoiditis. Although very sympathetic, the response was that it was doubtful stem cells would make much difference to longstanding A. 😞

Very disappointing, but will keep trying folks....

Re: MS Stem Cell Treatment recently in news & on TV

Posted by kev - 30 Mar 2016 08:58

Disappointing yes but thanks for letting us know Helen. There always seems to be research coming up with new attempts to help/cure the more well known conditions but you never hear of any meaningful research being done on Arach. We can but hope.

Re: MS Stem Cell Treatment recently in news & on TV

Posted by helen - 31 Mar 2016 09:30

Yes Kev, thats always been my gripe, no one recognises us as people with a disease, we are the "injured" !!!