

Strange Medical Explanations

Posted by Kim - 11 Jan 2006 10:42

---

I was recently diagnosed as having acute glaucoma. When I asked the specialist why this had happened, she said: "You've got small eyeballs!" With that, she swept out of the room!

I guess I must have had small eyeballs for 59 years, and nobody, not even my best friend, told me. 🙄

Has anybody else had a bizarre explanation for their symptoms that can compete with small eyeballs? Please share your experiences here.

=====