

appt

Posted by Becky - 15 Apr 2007 02:22

Hi Kim,

Thanks for asking about my appt. Same old boring appt. Get my pills and go home.

I did mention that we took me off of the Oxycontin, mainly b/c I am disabled now by the gov. and some of our gov insurance won't pay for certain drugs. Of course the cheapest we tried first. Which was Methadone. I was so sick for 2 weeks on that crap. It wasn't helping my pain but if I took more, it made me feel weird. I called the dr and got an appt took in what I had left. The NP put me on mscontin 60mg 3 times a day, with roxicodone 30mg 3 times a day for bt. I am doing alot better.

I am so broke though. I don't receive enough money from the gov. so I don't pay half of my bills. Just the necessary ones. I helped my boyfriend clean his house the other day. about 3 hard hrs of work...I was down the next day, couldn't do anything.

How can I work like this? to make extra money.

How do you ppl do it?

Hi to Doc also, I hope everything is going well for you..

Wishing you both pain free days,

Becky

=====

Re:appt

Posted by Kim - 15 Apr 2007 04:01

Becky

I will get back to you. I sent a copy on to DocSarah, I am not medically qualified to talk about medications. I don't know what medication routine is happening in the States but I think it is happening here soon. I hear the News from my ANN. I am usually in bed by now but am having a bad moment

Kim

=====