

This board?

Posted by Catlover1 - 13 Jun 2007 17:50

Am I missing something or has this board died a quiet death?

Hope not!

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by Kim - 15 Jul 2007 06:08

Hi Sue

The Docs move went OK but she has Post Herpatic something or other and still suffering. Grandson had three days in bed in Spain, suffering. Nice one!! Welcome to my world son:sick: 🤒

Been doing some background work hoping to post this week.

I have a funding meeting Monday, free Lunch..!

Tuesday I have another meeting to promote our local group and more funding.

After that, Ann has got me some good links for other people to look at. What we can do ourselves, maybe other's can pick up on.

I will be more active, Sue, I am trying to get there.

I need to revamp the website, despite getting all these hits we did not expect. I need help to make it easier for people to get information.

INFORMATION IS POWER.

Has been our motto for so many years.

Going to post our local support group this week to show, how ever small, we keep on fighting 🐾

A very tired

KIM

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by kev - 17 Jul 2007 09:01

I'd just like to say thanks for all the hard work you and the doc do for this site Kim, i know it must be difficult physically for you.

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by Kim - 18 Jul 2007 23:32

Thanks Kev

Just as I planed a big update, I went into a massive muscle spasm on Sunday. Not had one this bad for nearly 10 years:(😞

Back to the stretching exercises and the tennis ball again!

Will try again soon

Kim

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by Kim - 20 Jul 2007 03:12

Hi Kev

My Keyboard went down at the same time and I really had to struggle to try and type anything. Got new batteries now so should be alright (she says). 😊

Muscle spasm is clearing so hoping for good things tomorrow. Hate the medications they recommend, Baclofen and Diazepam, so stick to naturals where I can. 😊

Ann has gone away to 'Lourdes' for 10 days so I am 'Billy No-Mates' but she has sent me some good links. I hope to post this week.And I get a candle!! 😊

Must try to speak to Sue as I have forgotten about MSN and Hotmail again. Upstairs computer is not working and the chair up there is crap.

You might of guessed I am not very computer literate.

Jamie did our site and I populated it with all the Doc had given me over the years.

Now I know the keyboard works here, watch this space:)

Kim

Post edited by: Kim, at: 2007/07/20 03:14

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by kev - 13 Aug 2007 20:05

Any more news on how the Doc is doing?

=====

Re:This board?

Posted by Kim - 14 Aug 2007 08:30

Hi Kev

The Doc is fine. She went on holiday early August for a rest but is back sometime this week, so hope to talk then.

Trouble has been that she wanted some information from members, but only those who had a diagnosis of arach. Now I have a problem with that, but Ann had also gone on holiday, to Lourdes, and we all got candles and prayers, but I needed her advice.

Some people have had their diagnosis from honest doctors and others by default!

Ann tells me that on other boards, people who have that diagnosis feel superior to those who have the symptoms but not the others whose doctors did not tell them they have this condition.

I found out my accident, no doctor told me, just my medical records, obtained for another reason. Ann, had a clinical diagnosis, and I myself found out over many years that people who have a diagnosis and those who don't, have as much right to have a say and just as much right to any treatment which might be available.

So I had a problem. I have had to wait until I speak to both before I post.

That is because I have a bigger picture - the Doc has been designing a pain management programme just for us and I am hoping for funding for this. Together with a visit for her to go and see another Doc who has some good info for us.

I might not make every day but I am trying to keep up with you all.

Best wishes

Kim

=====