

Posting to the Forum

Posted by Kim - 22 Apr 2009 22:16

---

Someone posted to the Forum at lunchtime today with messages on all boards about his gaming website. Thanks to Helen, I managed to delete all references to him and from the database.

871 people registered and I spent all afternoon weeding them down to 192 genuine members. Over the next week I will contact every one of you on this revised list, individually and if I do not get a reply you will be deleted. If any new members sign on and I am automatically notified, I will contact them before I allow a post.

I am sorry if people are offended by my draconian attitude, it is not my intention to upset genuine people who are looking for information and support.

Thankfully, I have more friends out there than I realised 😊

Kim - Super Administrator

TheAword

=====