

In 1952, Erickson et al. ([\[1\]](#)) published a case report of a fatality after Pantopaque myelography, due to obstructive hydrocephalus; Schurr et al. ([\[2\]](#)) in 1953 described meningeal irritation due to Pantopaque.

[\[1\]](#) Erickson TC, Baaren HJ Trans. Amer. Neurolog. Assoc. 1952; 134 Late meningeal Reaction to Pantopaque used in Myelography

[\[2\]](#) Schurr, P. H., McLaurin R. L., et al. Journal of Neurosurgery 1953; 515 - 525 Experimental Studies on the Circulation of the Cerebrospinal Fluid.
